

Call for Papers: The Eighteenth World Congress of Jewish Studies

The Eighteenth World Congress of Jewish Studies will take place at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem on August 8–12, 2022.

Scholars from all fields of Jewish Studies are invited to take part in the Congress.

The six broad divisions of the World Congress are:

- The Bible and Its World
- History of the Jewish People
- Rabbinic Literature, Jewish Law and Jewish Thought
- Languages, Literatures, and the Arts
- Jewish Studies and Social Sciences
- Research Projects and Technology

8-12
AUGUST
2022

Scholars may submit a proposal for a lecture or for a complete thematic session. Proposals for complete sessions are strongly encouraged.

Detailed submission instructions may be found on the WUJS website.

Proposals must be submitted via the website by December 1, 2021.

Decisions of the academic committees will be emailed by February 2022.

Research Centers and Institutes are invited to support or sponsor sessions relevant to their fields of interest.

For more information please visit www.jewish-studies.org

- Participation in the Congress is contingent upon payment of WUJS membership dues for 2022 as well as Congress participation fees.
- WUJS membership fees and Congress participation fees must be paid upon confirmation that a proposal has been accepted.
- Participants who have not paid both membership and participation fees by the payment deadline of March 15, 2022 will not be included in the Congress program. We thank you for your understanding.