The Cohn Institute for the History and Philosophy of Science and Ideas

SEMESTER B'

18:00 Uhr

Tuesday 29.5.2017

Klodian Coko, University of Tel Aviv, Gildman Building, Room 18

The Multiple Dimensions of Multiple Determination

Tuesday 6.6.2017

Vincenzo De Risi, Research Academy, University of Milan

Holy Maimon: Neo-Kantianism, and the Early Reception of Kant’s Philosophy of Mathematics

Tuesday 13.6.2017

Luca Guzziardi, Department of Philosophy, University of Milan

Jesuit Physico-Mathesis after Clavius: The Shaping of a Mathematical Style

Tuesday 20.6.2017

Yiftach Fehige, Institute for the History and Philosophy of Science and Technology, University of Toronto

God in the Laboratory of the Mind

Tuesday 27.6.2017

Allan Young, Departments of Social Studies of Medicine, Anthropology, and Psychiatry, McGill University, Montreal

How the Brain Acquired a Mind of Its Own: The Helmholtzian Brain in the 21st Century

Tuesday 4.7.2017

Yiftach Fehige, Institute for the History and Philosophy of Science and Technology, University of Toronto

Computational Epistemology and Science Policy

The Cohn Institute for the History and Philosophy of Science and Ideas

The Multiple Dimensions of Multiple Determination

Tuesday 11.7.2017

Fernando Vidal, The Catalan Institution for Research and Advanced Studies and Center for the History of Science, Autonomous University of Barcelona

The History of the “Cerebral Subject” as History of the Present

Commentator: Oren Harman, Science, Technology & Society Department, Bar Ilan University