

Centific is a global technology company specializing in AI data solutions and digital transformation. As part of our global operations, we are continuously looking for new team members. Through our platform OneForma, we also offer flexible part-time projects that can be combined with studies, providing students with the opportunity to gain valuable experience in the AI field. This includes tasks such as data collection, translation, transcription, annotation, etc. – all contributing to the improvement of AI and machine learning. Our AI and projects range from one-time assignments to remote part-time jobs with flexible working hours.

Are you a native Hebrew – Israel speaker with experience in Image Annotation and Transcription? We have an exciting opportunity for you!

You will be responsible for annotating images containing handwritten or printed text in accordance with specific guidelines. This role involves character-level annotation, where you identify and box each character within a pre-annotated line-level box. When required, you will also apply relevant flags to highlight specific attributes of the text. You will continue this process line by line until all characters within the image have been fully and accurately annotated.
